USEFUL PLAYTHINGS.

It sounds like a paradox, but it is all right. Toy furniture is useful and educational as a plaything for the little miss. So with the other items on the following list. The toys are all good and substantial, and are merely samples of the many bargains we have always on hand. We have them in sufficient quantity to meet any demand. The price comparisons may be depended upon, and they are positive indications of the way all goods are sold here and elsewhere.

AN IRISH GENTLEMAN.

"An Irish Gentleman" is a comedy in three acts, written by J. M. Sheridan. It is a story of a young man who goes to America to find his fortune. He meets a girl who is in love with him, but she is engaged to another man. He tries to win her back, but she is too true to her word. The play is a comedy of manners, and is full of humor and pathos. It is a story that is true to life, and is a story that is full of interest and excitement. It is a story that is full of life and color, and is a story that is full of hope and faith. It is a story that is full of love and friendship, and is a story that is full of the best of human nature. It is a story that is full of the best of the human spirit, and is a story that is full of the best of the human soul. It is a story that is full of the best of the human heart, and is a story that is full of the best of the human mind.
